

LINDA PISSOTT REIG is Vice President of Compliance Services of Porzio Pharmaceutical Services, LLC. Ms. Reig monitors state and federal legal developments to guide product development. She tracks recent state and federal prosecutions, as well as sanctions and investigations by the Food and Drug Administration and Office of Inspector General – Department of Health & Human Services to identify compliance priorities.

Ms. Reig is also a principal of Porzio, Bromberg & Newman P.C. in the Pharmaceutical Marketing and Sales Compliance department and the Appellate Practice Group. In that capacity, Ms. Reig defends pharmaceutical companies in products liability, class action and consumer fraud lawsuits. She also evaluates drug advertising and promotion, gifts to physicians, educational grants and continuing medical education programs, use of market research services, interactions with managed care organizations, and promotion over the Internet. She conducts in-depth training on standards covering the marketing and sales of drug products, and assists in the development of policies and standard operating procedures. Additionally, Ms. Reig advises on evaluation of post-marketing adverse events and implementation of labeling changes.

Ms. Reig is the past Chairman of the Board of the New Jersey Defense Association (NJDA), and former chairperson of the NJDA's Products Liability Committee. She also is a member of the American Law Institute, Defense Research Institute's (DRI) Drug and Medical Device Committee and the NJ State Bar Association Appellate Practice Committee.

Ms. Reig is a 1993 cum laude graduate of Georgetown University Law Center, and a 1990 summa cum laude graduate of Rutgers Newark College of Arts & Sciences.
